PROMOTING FARM SAFETY

ABOUT CASA
The Canadian Agricultural Safety Association is a national non-profit organization dedicated to improving the health and safety of farmers, their families and agricultural workers.

In an average year, Canada mourns the loss of over 100 adults and children due to agricultural fatalities. Canada’s agricultural sector is one of the most hazardous industries in which to work.

As a national, non-profit organization, CASA promotes farm safety in the agricultural sector. CASA works with partners in government, business, and farming organizations across the country to support initiatives that equip producers, their families and their workers with the information and tools needed to make farms a safe place to live, work and play.

CASA is governed by a seven-person Board of Directors drawn from a membership base that includes individuals, organizations, governments and businesses.

Fast Fact: In an average year, Canada mourns the loss of over 100 adults and children due to agricultural fatalities.

• Raising awareness about the need for safety in the agricultural community through Canadian Agricultural Safety Week;
• Bringing together safety champions from across the country at CASA’s annual farm safety conference;
• Developing farm safety tools and resources to help make farms safer, including the Canada FarmSafe Plan, farm training courses; and
• Providing financial support for adaptive technology for injured farmers through the Back to Ag Program;
